Full job description

- $150,000 - $200,000 package on offer.
- Highly Flexible working arrangements.

Principal Consultant to provide expert review & QA across the Sydney Contaminated Land group (about 30 consultants) for a major Australian Environmental Consultancy.

This is a firm that in recent years, have matured substantially. Now over 200 staff nationally, they have a rounded offering across Contaminated Sites, Geotechnical, Occupational Hygiene and have their own Labs. This is a firm taking lead roles with major Australian & international clients in recent times, signifying they truly are an emerging major player.

- Don't be afraid of the red pen! Need someone who likes to be thorough on reviewing reports.
- 80% work is CLM, Waste, Resource Recovery, Asbestos if contamination (not hazmat), Compliance Monitoring.
- 20% is groundwater / light-end models and occasional advice in hydrogeology, particularly as it intersects the Geotech work
- Young and capable team
- Major infrastructure projects, developments and brownfield sites across Sydney and NSW

Work from home policy:

Fully flexible. 50/50 work from home and office. Currently moving offices, and for their 30 people they only asked for 15 desks Staff are generally either in the field or working from home so expect flexible (and seamless) working arrangements / integrations with home office.

This consultancy see themselves becoming one of the largest Engineering Consulting firms in Australia so at 200 they feel they are only just getting started.

Please don't hesitate to get in touch to discuss the above role in further detail. We understand that the Environmental market is quite tight-knit, so your approach will be held confidentially.
