Full job description

Your new company

Your new company is an industry leader in the development of ground transport, security systems and communication systems. This is an incredible opportunity to progress your career with a World Leading Defence Company.

Your new role

As the Inventory Control Supervisor you'll be responsible for the management of the armaments division of your new company that provides storage and logistics services to the ADF. The role includes managing incoming orders, maintenance and distribution of armaments stock. You'll have up to 4 direct reports, with your team responsible for ensuring quality standards, meeting Defence security requirements, monitoring and actioning KPIs and reviewing stock holding queries and raising resupplies, all while delivering effective customer service and adhering to HS&E principles.

What you'll need to succeed

- Current or able to reinstate a NV1 Security Clearance
- Previous MILIS Experience (Comsarm highly desirable)
- Infrequent lifting of stock up to 20kg
- Proficient PC experience
- Comprehensive data entry skills
- Effective communication with drive and initiative to collaborate within a team
- Intrastate and/or Interstate travel may be required

What you'll get in return

You'll be joining a Globally recognised company with the opportunity to gain a broader experience working as a part of an agile team who specialize in EO storage and logistics. This is a fantastic 12 Month Assignment that offers an excellent work culture working for a World Leader in the Industry.
