Full job description

- Share options available.
- LAFHA + plenty of travel to ecologically unique places.

Senior Botanist to join an Australia-wide Environmental Consultancy working out of their Perth office. This is a role that will appeal to someone with a sense of adventure – someone who enjoys fieldwork & travelling to interesting, remote & beautiful untouched places.

Think the Pilbara, Christmas Island, South, North, Midwest & more, places with unique ecology where new things are being found. If you're not interested in the travel, then read no further, this role isn't for you. If you are, scroll on.

The Consultancy:

This consultancy is growing to be one of the largest employers of Environmental practitioners in Australia. Known as a strong mid-tier, they are fast encroaching on that top-tier space and are doing so through a true consultative style, lack of red tape and focus on developing their teams.

This role sits under the mentorship of an incredible Ecological services lead with vast experience and a great approach to leadership. Under her guidance the team is technically strong and a good bunch to work with.
